

Support Pandas!

Did you know there are many endangered animals? The Giant panda is one of them. It is the world's rarest mammal! If Giant pandas go extinct then some of the animals that live where they live will be endangered!

There are other reasons these animals should be protected. They eat seeds from the bamboo and the pandas go different places and spread the seeds. The seeds also get stuck in their fur and fall off when they move. People use bamboo for medicine, food, fuel, utensils.

If pandas go away they can not spread the bamboo! and there will be less fuel, food, medicine and utensils. These animals' biggest threats are poaches and deforestation.

Giant pandas are called Giant pandas to separate them from Red pandas. Some people just call them pandas.

Giant pandas have a very important part in life. We need to protect these creatures. Without them a lot could change that are not good changes. Pandas matter just as much as we do.
Sometimes they need help too.
